Course Description
Honors Journalism 1-2 serves as a prerequisite to membership on the North Star newspaper staff, the Viking yearbook staff, or the new digital journalism course offered at North. During the first semester, students will learn the fundamentals of journalism, including media law, writing and photojournalism, while examining current events in order to refine critical thinking skills. During the second semester, students will focus on advanced skills in writing, photojournalism and graphic design. Through the course of the year, students will keep a professional portfolio of their major stories and projects. This year, honors journalism students will also participate in a partnership with a college writing course through Husker Writers where we will examine hidden narratives in news and tell the stories of different communities through personality profiles.

Instructional Philosophy
Student journalists play a vital role in the school. They tell the stories that need to be heard, giving a voice to the school. I whole-heartedly believe in what student journalists do and in giving them the opportunity to exercise their voices. I take this seriously and will provide a curriculum that will support you in this mission. You won’t be assigned a lot of homework – there will be some - but you will be challenged while having some fun along the way. Keep in mind: journalism isn’t just about writing. Sure, writing is a big part, but you must also be willing to invest in teamwork, truth-seeking, becoming a better citizen and encouraging others to do the same. My hope is that students leave 330 impassioned and confident in their ability to do just this.

- Identify characteristics of quality photography and graphic design.
- Keep a portfolio of major stories and projects completed throughout the year. The contents will include the following: Personality Profile, Multiple Sources Personality Profile, News Story, Personal Column, Entertainment Review, Informational Graphic, Page Design
  o Each item in your portfolio will include multiple drafts and a reflection form

Class Rules and Expectations
Class Rules: To be a Viking is to be Respectful, Responsible and Accountable. In room 330, that means:

1. Be Respectful
   a. To yourself and all bother, both students and adults, by allowing all persons to maintain their dignity, unconditionally.
   b. The language you use should reflect your understanding that this is a classroom in which everyone is welcome and respected, regardless of difference or ability
   c. Respect yourself by embracing the privilege of distraction free learning:
      i. Turn your electronic devices OFF and keep them out of sight unless for journalistic reasons defined by your teacher. If you find yourself unable to meet this expectation, please allow your instructor to keep watch over your device until the end of the period.
      ii. If you eat food, please do so quietly. If you decide you wish to share food, please bring enough for everyone.

2. Be Responsible
   a. Be on time in your assigned seat doing bell work when the bell rings
   b. Use class time wisely
   c. Be a positive and respectful advocate for the needs of yourself and others.
   d. Help promote a positive learning environment
      i. Recycle by laying paper flat in the recycling bin
      ii. Throw away any trash from food
      iii. Keep lids on drinks
      iv. Eat and drink away from the computers

3. Be Accountable
   a. Be an active participant in your education:
      i. Have materials ready
ii. Complete assignments on time
iii. Participate in activities and discussions respectfully
iv. Raise your hand to ask or answer questions
v. Try something NEW

Assessment

- Course grades will be determined by planned assessments such as tests, quizzes, and projects scored with rubrics.
- Major tests and/or writing/design projects are to be expected at the end of each major unit outlined above.

OPS Secondary Grading Practices*

All coursework and assessments are judged based on the level of student learning from “below basic” to “advanced.” This course will provide multiple opportunities to achieve at the “proficient” to “advanced” levels. Students are evaluated based on a proficiency scale or project rubric. Proficiency scales for this course are available upon request (teacher will identify location such as portal, teacher website, attached, etc.)

There are three types of coursework*

- Practice – assignments are brief and done at the beginning of learning to gain initial content (e.g., student responses on white boards, a valid sampling of math problems, keyboarding exercises, and diagramming sentences, checking and recording resting heart rate). Practice assignments are not generally graded for accuracy (descriptive feedback will be provided in class) and are not a part of the grade. Teachers may keep track of practice work to check for completion and students could also track their practice work. Practice work is at the student’s instructional level and may only include Basic (2) level questions.

- Formative (35% of the final grade) – assessments/assignments occur during learning to inform and improve instruction. They are minor assignments (e.g., a three paragraph essay, written responses to guiding questions over an assigned reading, completion of a comparison contrast matrix). Formative assignments are graded for accuracy and descriptive feedback is provided. Formative work may be at the student’s instructional level or at the level of the content standard. Formative assessments/assignments will have all levels of learning – Basic (2), Proficient (3), and Advanced (4), which means that for every formative assessment/assignment, students will be able to earn an Advanced (4). Teachers will require students to redo work that is not of high quality to ensure rigor and high expectations. The students score on a formative assessment that was redone will be their final score.

- Summative (65% of the final grade) – assessments/assignments are major end of learning unit tests or projects used to determine mastery of content or skill (e.g., a research paper, an oral report with a power point, major unit test, and science fair project). Summative assignments are graded for accuracy. Summative assignments assess the student’s progress on grade level standards and may not be written at the student’s instructional level. Summative assessments/assignments will have all levels of learning – Basic (2), Proficient (3), and Advanced (4), which means that for every formative assessment/assignment students, will be able to earn an advanced (4).

To maintain alignment of coursework to content standards, which is a key best practice for standards-based grading, teachers will utilize a standardized naming convention for each of the standards within a course. The content standard will be marked on each assignment entered into Infinite Campus (District Grading Program) using all capital letters followed by a colon. After the colon will be the title of the coursework.

At the end of the grading period, scores are converted to a letter grade using this grading scale.

\begin{align*}
A &= 3.26 - 4.00 \\
B &= 2.51 - 3.25 \\
C &= 1.76 - 2.50 \\
D &= 1.01 - 1.75 \\
F &= 0.00 - 1.00
\end{align*}

Redoing/Revising Student Coursework

1. Students are responsible for completing all coursework and assessments as assigned.
2. Students will be allowed redos and revisions of coursework for full credit as long as they are turned in during that unit of study while a student still has an opportunity to benefit from the learning. When time permits, teachers should allow the redoing or revising of summative assessments.
3. Students are expected to complete assessments when given to the class, or if a student was justifiably absent, at a time designated by the teacher.
4. Redoing, retaking or revising will be done at teacher discretion in consultation with the student and parent(s). Teachers may schedule students before, during, or after school to address needed areas of improvement if not convenient during class. The time and location for redoing, retaking or revising will be done at the teacher's discretion in consultation with the student and parent(s).
5. Scores for student work after retaking, revising or redoing will not be averaged with the first attempt at coursework but will replace the original score.
